Truth is I would like to escape myself

By Nour Al Ghraoui

Truth is I would like to escape myself.

Detach my body from my skin, peel it layer by layer to uncover beneath the surface of petals and thorns piled up year after year, who I am and who I want to be.

I want to be the flower that grows in the dirt, the feather that flies free between the cracks of fences. A wise woman once told me, don't worry about yourself, worry about who you could be.

I want to be the woman who sits on a desk and writes pieces of oceans, rivers on a white space in a place where imagination has no border.
